RECORD YEAR IN PROSPECT

Apartment Boom Hits the North County

By RON BATES

WITH LAND in the North County rapidly becoming scarce, developers have decided instead of spreading out they'll go up. As a result, apartment construction is on the verge of a record year.

In Daly City, a building permit was issued last week to Henry Doelger Builders, Inc., for a 111-unit apartment house to be constructed at 25 Poncetta Drive at an estimated cost of $822,232.

The apartment house will bring the number of units planned in Daly City in the first five months of 1964 to 481.

This figure, according to the building inspector's records, exceeds the number of units built in any of the five previous years in Daly City.

Not since Doelger built the apartment development around the Westlake Shopping Center has Daly City experienced such an "apartment boom."

MOST OF the apartments constructed since the beginning of the year are in the older section of the city or in outlying areas recently annexed to the city.

Among the most extensive apartment areas are Vendome Avenue, Hillcrest Drive, Junipero Serra Boulevard, Bepler-Mission Circle, Bruno Avenue, A Street, Brunswick Street, Miriam Street, Gambetta Park, Chester Manor, Sylvan Park and Wellington Avenue.

Other major apartment projects comprise a few scattered buildings in Westlake and a 450-unit development on Eastmoor Avenue.

The boom doesn't look like it will be ending soon.

A new basic zoning ordinance will enable developers of Serramonte and possibly the Crocker Estates to introduce "tower apartments" to Daly City in addition to the three-story buildings allowed now.

The "tower apartments" in the Crocker Estates will take advantage of a commanding view of the whole Bay Area.

The Doelger apartment building on Poncetta Drive is the 32nd apartment building to be granted a permit in the city in 1964—exceeding the total number of new apartment buildings erected in Daly City in each of the past five years.

Here is the breakdown:

Year	Bldgs.	Units
1960	8	391
1961	30	314
1962	13	194
1963	28	438

THE APARTMENT boom is not confined to Daly City.

Gus Pedemonte, who has been the year's most active apartment house builder in Daly City, is also busy in South San Francisco.

He has begun grading for 270 units valued at $3.5 million on the lower slopes of San Bruno Mountain.

Other apartment developments planned in South San Francisco include:

A 65-unit development on Holly Avenue north of Old Mission Road.

A 17-unit apartment on the southeast corner of Junipero Serra Boulevard and Arroyo Street.

A 24-unit apartment building on Old Mission Road near Chestnut Street.

An undetermined number of apartment units in the undeveloped Westborough subdivision.

Most ambitious of the South San Francisco apartment projects, however, is a 60-acre planned community apartment development on Sign Hill where "South San Francisco, the Industrial City" is emblazoned in huge white letters.

The development, called "Stonegate Ridge," will cost approximately $7 million and house upwards of 1,000 residents.

Serving the communities of: Westlake, Daly City, Pacifica, Colma and South San Francisco

FOR HEALTH COVERAGE

Override Tax Increased by JUHS Board

By LOUANNE HEATH

The Jefferson Union High School District voted Monday night to extend medical coverage benefits to district teachers. Only classified personnel had been covered previously.

The action, district officials said, will necessitate a three cent increase in the district's override tax. The new tariff will be three and one-half cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

An attempt to tie the policy covering the faculty members to that covering the district's classified personnel was abandoned when it was pointed out that the classified contracts had been negotiated with different provisions concerning medical coverage.

In other business, the board voted to award a contract for addition to Oceana High School to the Martinelli Construction Company pending final approval of the State Allocations Board.

The decision to award the contract was made without discus-

Extra Pay Committee Eyes Aims

The Jefferson Union High School District Committee on Equalization of Teacher Responsibilities will hold its second meeting tomorrow afternoon at Westmoor High School in an attempt to establish goals and methods.

The committee has undertaken a "study in depth" designed to determine what professional duties are outside the provisions of a teaching contract.

Members of the committee met last week in a session intended to explore the problems and scope of study.

They heard Asst. Dist. Supt. Fred O. Goodell read a statement explaining that schools are being called upon for a greater degree of participation in the solution of social problems and indicating that teachers will be called upon to re-evaluate their roles in a changing situation.

The changes which teachers may expect, Goodell concluded, will frequently call for new training and retraining.

Teachers, Goodell said, will find that school districts must be in a position to require an employe to devote time to such retraining and to other efforts that will benefit pupils and the community at large.

To aid in the transitions made necessary by a changing society, Goodell suggested the committee study a proposal for an 11-month teaching contract.

The contract, he said, would

Verducci to Consult With County Heads

It will be back to the books for San Francisco educator and former Daly City Mayor Joseph Verducci following his lopsided win last week in the race for the Fifth District seat on the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

Verducci said he plans to work "real hard in the next six months to get to know county problems thoroughly." He plans consultations with heads of the various county departments to familiarize himself with whatever problems they feel prevalent."

The former Daly City mayor gained 55 per cent of the votes cast in the four-way race for the supervisor's seat held now by Alvin Hatch of Half Moon

Who Will Win?

THE QUESTION mark among these five girls indicates a mystery that will be cleared up this evening — who will be Miss Daly City of 1964? The five finalists vying for the coveted crown are, clockwise starting from the top, Rinice Phillips, Judy Liss, Cathy Herleikson, Karen Soltau and Susann Bernard. (Post-Times Photos)

MISS DALY CITY

Five Beauties Vie for Crown

The Miss Daly City beauty derby will go into the home stretch tonight when five lovely ladies compete before a large crowd at the Elks' Club in South San Francisco tonight.

Competing for the Miss Daly City crown are: Rinice Philips, 17, of 1048 South Mayfair Avenue; Susann Bernard, 16, of Wildwood Avenue; Judy Liss, 19, of 15 Ashland Drive; Cathy Herleikson, 17, of 23 Crestline Avenue, and Karen Soltau, 16, of 750 Hanover Street.

The Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce-sponsored event, in its tenth year, is scheduled to get under way with dinner at 7 p.m.

The festivities will begin midway through dinner with a fashion show featuring several of the previous Miss Daly City queens as models.

Fred Martin, chairman of the annual affair, will interview the queen candidates. He'll serve as master of ceremonies.

A raft of prizes and merchandise orders, valued at more than $3,000, awaits the winner.

The prize jackpot received a hefty boost this week with the donation of a $1,000 scholarship the winner, $500 scholarship to the runner-up and a $100 scholarship to each finalist from the LaVonne Valentine Talent and Modeling Agency.

The jackpot is the largest in the history of the contest, according to Martin.

Winner of the title will represent Daly City in the Floral Fiesta and Dream Girl Contest at the San Mateo County Fair later this year.

Stables Law Is Readied

A proposed ordinance governing the operation of horse stables will be presented to the Colma City Council tonight.

The ordinance was drafted by a special committee formed by the council to study health problems created by stables.

The committee, composed of representatives of the Horseman's Association, stable owners, the Hillside Homeowners' Association, County Sanitarian Reint Lingeman and veterinari-

D. C. Residents Complain of Traffic

Landscaping to alleviate a traffic problem around a Westlake apartment house and "transitional" zones of apartments between industrial and single family homes were the main topics of discussion at the Daly City Council meeting Monday night.

The council ordered a permanent barrier of landscaping around a Henry Doelger Company apartment building between Southgate Avenue and Fairlawn Court to halt an assortment of vehicles, including mail trucks, city water trucks, grading machines and motor scooters, from jumping the curb and taking a shortcut through a street designated as a cul-de-sac.

When the Doelger firm first requested permission two years ago to build apartments near Fairlawn residential homes, a cry of protest came from homeowners who feared that additional traffic generated by the apartment house would ruin the neighborhood.

The council placated the homeowners, promising landscaping around the apartment

Time for Car Check

Daly City Police Chief Roland Petrocchi urged motorists this week to have their autos checked for potential defects in preparation for what he termed "the start of the peak driving season."

Petrocchi suggested that car owners start with lights —front, rear and turn signal. He noted that burned out lights are the leading cause for the failure of autos to pass safety examinations.

1600 Seniors to Receive Diplomas in North County

Caps and gowns, the martial strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" and the tear-stained cheeks of proud parents will all be considerably in evidence this week in the North County.

For it's graduation time and more than 1,600 high school seniors will receive their diplomas in commencement exercises held in school auditoriums and gymnasiums.

In addition to the seniors, hundreds of eighth grade pupils in both public and parochial school systems will receive diplomas, signifying that they are ready to go on to high school. In the Jefferson Union High School District, diplomas will be presented to seniors by members of the district's board of education.

The senior classes will be presented by the principals of each school.

Jefferson and Oceana will hold their commencement exercises at 8 tomorrow evening. Westmoor and Terra Nova seniors will receive their diplomas at 8 Friday evening.

In the South San Francisco Unified School District, seniors also will receive their diplomas from members of the district's board of trustees.

However, following a district custom, the senior classes will be presented by guest principals.

Both South San Francisco and El Camino High School will hold their graduation exercises Friday evening.

For two of the North County high schools, the commencement exercises will be their first. Oceana will graduate its inaugural senior class of 145 students and El Camino will graduate its first class of 247 students.

RECREATION HIS FORTE

He Served D. C. for 30 Years

(Editor's Note: A 30-year career, devoted to the recreational needs of Daly City, ended the other day when Edmund Cavagnaro stepped down from his seat on the city's Recreation Commission. In this interview with Post-Times reporter Phyllis Clements, he recalls highlights of that long career.)

By PHYLLIS CLEMENTS

"RECREATION always was my hobby — and is even to this day."

With these words, Edmund Cavagnaro modestly explains more than 30 years of interest and dedication to the recreation needs of Daly City.

"My recreation work in Daly City goes back a long way. It dates back to the early thirties when we had a WPA program in recreation.

"The city council made arrangements for using the school yards on Saturdays and after school. Women from the civic club — I recall Anne Eason and Maisie Boyle in particular, though there were others — worked in promoting this program."

Cavagnaro was elected to the city council in 1936. He feels that young people who were concerned with recreation backed his candidacy and were responsible for his election.

During his eight years on the council, there was no recreation commission. Councilmen acted directly on recreation through committees.

WITH GREAT delight and enthusiasm, he recalls a particular day in the history of Daly City, his birthplace.

"On June 8, 1941, we dedicated Lincoln Park, at Acton and Brunswick Streets, as a playground. I had recommended the purchase of these lots.

"On that same date, we dedicated Marchbanks Park. The council had planned the dedications so that they fell on the anniversary of the city's 30th year of incorporation.

CAVAGNARO remembers what he considers were the

IRS CRACKDOWN

Two Seized on Gambling Count

Two North County men were arrested in San Francisco last week in connection with an Internal Revenue Service nationwide crackdown on gambling.

Arrested were Charles Graf, 47, of 3095 Dublin Drive, South San Francisco, and Frank Ebright, 58, an employed bartender who lives at 89 Bellevue Street, Daly City.

Graf was seized along with Leo A. Cunningham Jr., 36, of 1618 Borden Street, San Mateo, and Ludwig Larsen, of San Francisco. The trio are partners in a Market Street, San Francisco, tavern.

Ebright was seized by IRS agents in a San Francisco office building.

All were charged in connection with failure to purchase $50 federal gambling tax stamps.

IRS agents said Cunningham, Graf and Larsen were doing an estimated $2,000-a-day business in gambling at their bar. Agents seized $1,400 in a cash box at the tavern.

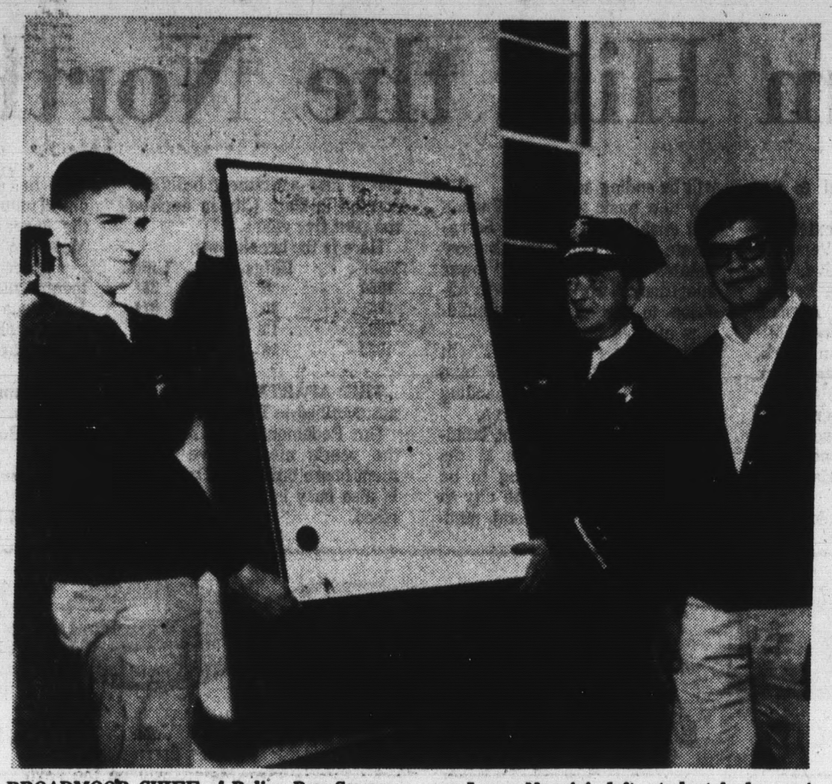
Larsen was scheduled to appear in court yesterday for trial in a bookmaking case in which he was arrested a year ago.

Cunningham was convicted of bookmaking in 1959, at which time he was fined $150, placed on one year's probation and given a six months suspended sentence.

Ebright, who has been twice convicted of bookmaking, was not reported to be connected with gambling at the tavern.

U. S. Commissioner Cameron Wolfe set bail at $500 each and slated a preliminary hearing in the case for June 18.

New Member of the 'Patrol'



BROADMOOR CHIEF of Police Ray Savage became an official member of the Holy Angel Safety Patrol at the school's graduation breakfast last week. He was presented with a proclamation signed by all 15 members of the patrol. Presenting him with the award are Larry Nannini, left, student body president, and Ronald Caserza, right, patrol captain. Savage said the proclamation will be placed in his office at the Broadmoor Police Station. (Post-Times Photo)

and making Fairlawn Court a cul-de-sac.

Construction of another apartment house and "slow-growing plants" have created a problem, however.

Temporary construction vehicles and regular mail and city vehicles, trying to avoid heavy traffic on Southgate, have made a shortcut by jumping the curb and going over a dirt area between Fairlawn and a parking lot off Southgate, residents charged.

Mrs. Rita Sowers, of 7 Fairlawn Court, brought the problem to the attention of the council as it was about to grant approved zoning for the new apartment house.

City Engineer William Chapman said a barrier would be built until landscaping plants have a chance to "take root."

Chapman said he had ordered city vehicles not to take the shortcut when a complaint was lodged "some time ago" by a resident. He said he had assumed his orders were being carried out.

The engineer said the city had built a huge mound of earth at the end of the street earlier to discourage vehicles from taking the shortcut but that one of the Fairlawn Court residents had protested and it was removed.

In other business, the council sent three items back to the planning commission for further study after a delegation of homeowners from the Bayshore area made a plea for "transitional zoning" between industrial property and single-family homes.

Kenneth Pack, 112 MacDonald Avenue, spokesman for the group, said 14 owners of the 20 lots involved had signed a petition requesting that duplex zoning be given to the properties.

Pack said the duplex zoning "would do away with the present sense of overbalance" caused by industrial properties directly behind their homes. He presented pictures of the area to prove his point.

He said that the properties were "uniquely situated and should be considered a transitional zone."

Because MacDonald is a "very wide street" the rezoning change would not affect the single-family homes directly across the street, he said.

Optimists To Install New Slate

The Lake Merced Optimists Club will install new officers at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 20, at the Sai-Wu Garden.

The new officers are Kenneth Fahy, president; Jim Ryan, first vice president; Robert DeMattei, second vice president; Carl E. Davis, secretary; Frank D. LaMont, sergeant at arms, and Alex McAllister, treasurer.

Named to the board of directors were Walter Brodie Charles E. Bates and Lou Gazzano.

The club, which meets at the Sai Wu Gardens at noon Tuesdays, will not meet June 30. The club will host 25 boys at a San Francisco Giants baseball game at Candlestick Park that day.

Yesterday's program included a talk on the 1939-40 French underground.

Realtor Is Convicted

Raymond J. Flanagan, a Colma real estate operator who was convicted of embezzling $13,000 from a title company of which he was erstwhile manager, was sentenced last week to serve 90 days in county jail.

Superior Court Judge J. A. Branson made the jail term a condition of two years' probation.

Judge Branson had convicted Flanagan, who was manager of the Bay Counties Title Company in Redwood City, of one count of grand theft.

He allegedly wrote 75 bogus checks ranging from $15 to $1,000.

His attorney, Walter Harrington, said Flanagan has made restitution to the firm.

Deputy District Attorney William Doherty said he has been informed that Flanagan will lose his real estate operator's license.

Bay. He needed one vote over 50 per cent. A runoff election in November would have been required if no candidate had received a majority.

Verducci polled 61,566 votes while former Pacifica Mayor Jean Fassler got 35,669, Charles E. Carter of Skylonda 8,286 and Hughes M. Blowers 7,873.

Mrs. Fassler, who was endorsed by Hatch in the closing weeks of the county-wide campaign, beat Verducci only in her home city of Pacifica 3,165 to 1,613, and in Millbrae.

San Mateo County voters held true to County Clerk John A. Bruning's vote forecast of a 72 per cent turnout. A total of 148,397 votes were cast. Voters:

Returned Supervisor William M. Werder of Redwood City to the board.

Nominated incumbent Carl A. Britschgi of Redwood City and Andrew C. Byrd of Burlingame to represent the Republican party in the 26th and 27th Assembly District races, respectively.

Indicated a preference for Nelson A. Rockefeller as the Republican hope for president.

Chose Pierre Salinger and George Murphy to vie in November for United States Senator.

In the 27th district race, Byrd defeated Fred W. Ruhland of Colma for the right to meet Democratic incumbent Leo J. Ryan of South San Francisco. Byrd's county vote was 12,788 to 7,342 for Ruhland. Ryan, who was unopposed, polled 32,863.

Superior Court Judge Frank B. Blum of Daly City was returned to office with a vote total of 89,366. Municipal Judge Charles Becker of Daly City received 23,242 votes.

FOR NEW BUILDING

All Souls Church Studies Under Way

A bulldozer last week smashed its way through the foundations of the burned-out All Souls Catholic Church in South San Francisco, finishing the destruction started a month ago by fire, while church leaders shaped plans to rebuild.

Monsignor Eugene Gallagher, pastor of the parish of 3,500 members, said that plans are not definite, but that he expects a fund drive some time this fall.

Msgr. Gallagher has been consulting with an architect about the design of a new church incorporating a convent for Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, and a rectory with quarters for the priest and church offices.

He said the former church, with seats for 500, was too small. He added that the old site is rather limited. The same half block is shared by the church school, which itself is expanding.

Helping in Msgr. Gallagher's studies have been members of the church Men's Club, and Sister Humiliata, Mother Superior of the Immaculate Heart Sisters.

The new building must allow space for the five teaching sisters and three lay teachers for All Souls School, space for three priests, space for the offices, meeting rooms, and the church itself, Msgr. Gallagher said.

He said he also will be conferring with Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken about funds, and that "we probably will put out a pre-drive brochure" outlining the church's needs.

sion of a possible split in the district should the Laguna Salada Elementary School District be unified within itself.

Earlier, the possibility that Oceana might wind up out of the board's jurisdiction had been considered.

The addition to Oceana calls for more classrooms, an art room and cafeteria — plus enlargement of library facilities and modifications to the existing strucure.

Work will begin as soon as approval by the state has been received.

The addition should be completed sometime during the fall of 1965, according to Administrative Assistant Richard Coltrell.

One Hurt in 3-Car Crash

One person was injured in a three-car collision on San Jose Avenue near Bepler Street in Daly City shortly before 6 p.m. Monday.

Ole J. Fjeldmoe of 316 Miriam Street, Daly City, driver of one of the cars, was treated for a cut lip at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in South San Francisco.

Police identified the drivers of the other cars as Wayne L. Lisle, 19, of Richmond and Frederico N. Marco, 64, of 428 28th Avenue, San Mateo.

Fjeldmoe was issued a citation for following another auto too close.

letter of protest from Robert P. Fizer of 235 Reichling Avenue, against approval given by the Plannning Commission for a commercial building planned at the intersection of the Coast Highway and Reina Del Mar in Vallemar.

"It has been expressed by many citizens that the Planning Commission did not really investigate this application," Fizer wrote. He continued:

"Over 180 people of Vallemar signed a petition against the application." Fizer requested that "a more thorough, long range study be made."

The council also will take up a letter from several merchants who have complained that recent highway construction has hurt their businesses. Their letter states in part:

"We, the merchants on San Francisco Boulevard between Paloma and Carmel Avenues feel that our business has been put in jeopardy by the illogical problem created . . . by the City of Pacifica and the State Highway Division."

Citing 40 feet of unfinished curbing, a nine-foot elevated section of the old pavement, and what they term a bad grade at the Francisco crossing, the merchants conclude:

"This is another sign of the indifferent attitude of the Highway Department in its concern for our continued survival as merchants in Pacifica."

City Manager Karl Baldwin, after having consulted with the highway project engineer, will report that:

"The incomplete 40-foot section by Carmel Avenue will be regraded and the bad grade where the temporary Carmel crossing enters Francisco will be given immediate attention."

The council will hear a reply from the State Division of Highways to another citizen request made at a previous meeting.

Basil Gladieux, president of Vallemar P-TA, had asked that the pedestrian way in Vallemar be moved from the west side to the east side of the highway.

According to the letter from the highway department, the suggested revision cannot be considered. Baldwin, however, in a letter to Gladieux, stated that:

"The City Council is giving it every consideration and will again review the request along with this latest information from the state."

Extra Pay Meet Set

include all the present paid-for extra work, adult teaching, summer school, home teaching and the so-called unpaid-for extra work, club sponsorship, coaching and supervision.

In other information presented to the committee last week, District Supt. Edward D. Morgan urged the members not to limit themselves too severely in the scope of their work.

In this letter, Morgan said:

"In my opinion your work represents one of the most important assignments given since our district was formed in 1922.

"In studying the equalization of teacher effort, the committee should not confine itself to either copying what has been done in some other districts or to attempting to definition of a typical pattern to which to conform.

"I would seem that in studying this entire problem, new ideas for reaching a solution might evolve. Exploring such new ideas is within the scope of the committee."

Colma Council to Consider New Stables Law Tonight

an Dr. David Barnett, met two weeks ago to study a similar ordinance used by the county.

The ordinance to be presented tonight will differ from the couty law only in some of its terminology.

The existence of stables close to the Daly City homes has been a subject of heated debate at several council meetings both in Colma and in Daly City.

Anthony Aiello, president of the Hillside group, charged that most of the health and nuisance problems have been created by the independent owners who do not take care of their stables properly.

A fire at the Holland Boarding Stables at the end of Hoffman Street killed 38 horses April 22 and demolished the stables.

George Holland, owner of the stable, said he is building a new stable to meet stipulations contained in the ordinance being presented to the council tonight.

The council will meet at 8 in the Colma Town Hall on El Camino Real.

30-Year Career Ends

days of Marchbanks Park's glory.

"Games were booked every Sunday by Al Earle, a top semi-professional baseball promoter. Teams from all over would call him for the privilege of playing on the park's diamond. Calls came from as far as Sacramento and Reno."

He remembers the winter league games with such players as Bill Rigney, Jackie Caulfield, Eddie Deuce, Don Mossi, Ed Cereghino, and Jim Gentile.

"It was a very popular diamond and did a lot to advertise Daly City."

PROMOTING recreation was a difficult task in the late 1930's, Cavagnaro recalls.

"People weren't recreation minded as they are today. And it wasn't all peaches and cream — it was really tough.

"What really got us going was the building of the gym and swimming pool at Jefferson High School."

Cavagnaro feels that the superintendent of the high school district at that time, James Ferguson, was instrumental in securing the bonds for the construction of the two facilities through hard work in behalf of the proposal.

The completion of the pool in 1937 put Daly City in an envious position.

Cavagnaro remembers that the pool was rented by San Francisco for use by Mission and Balboa High Schools. Today, of course, San Francisco has many pools of its own.

THE RECREATION Commission was created in 1951 and Cavagnaro was one of the original appointees. At that time, the Community Center on Hillside Boulevard was under construction. Cavagnaro had worked for the purchase of the site by the city.

"The first bond issue didn't allow for the completion of the center. After the commission was appointed, we worked on recommendations to bring about its successful completion. We also worked on the development of a good program for the center — and have right up to this day."

During Cavagnaro's tenure on the commission, the Frankfort, Palisades and Northridge playgrounds were developed and the commission recommended the purchase of Westlake Park at the time of the annexation of Westlake into Daly City.

Westmoor Park also was developed and dedicated during his time in office.

CAVAGNARO had hoped that the city might be able to acquire enough land in the Serramonte development for an auditorium and swimming pool.

Some acreage for parks and playgrounds was made available but not in the amount Cavagnaro had foreseen as desirable.

About such disappointments, he says philosopically:

"I always stood by my convictions in the hopes of seeing Daly City go ahead."

And althoguh he was not reappointed to the commission, Cavagnaro continues to hold high aspirations for the success of the recreation program.

"I'd like to see the recreation program — a joint program in co-operation with the superintendents of schools, the teachers—continue.

"This is a wonderful thing. That Daly City has been able to progress in recreation as it has is to the credit of all those who have co-operated in this way."

By LE PACINI

AGE GAINED a rare revenge on youth last week when the Terra Nova Faculty defeated the Tiger Varsity in a softball game of no swifties, something like 24-8.

Actually, this was no upset, since the Faculty hadn't lost one of the annual affairs since the opening game four years ago when Terra Nova was sharing buildings with Westmoor. Even then, the Tiger Faculty lead was squandered only when a fly ball bounced off the head of a Faculty player, opening the gates for several unearned Varsity runs.

The Tiger Varsity has had a good excuse these past years, however, because there isn't a member of the Faculty nine who has ever played less than high school baseball. Several have played college and semi-pro, and three of them are former pros.

One of the ex-pros, Al Figoni, is a familiar name around this area. Al was a fine all-around Jefferson High athlete (two time All-League third baseman, Examiner Baseball School star, varsity basketball and football player, and Jeff's 1955 Outstanding Athlete), who, when he graduated, launched a college and pro career reminiscent of the late, well-traveled BoBo Newsome.

Al, who will be coaching the Tiger varsity next year, followed high school with a year-and-a-half at Fresno State, where he played football and baseball, during which time he was converted into a catcher.

There followed a year at College of San Mateo, where he was an outstanding linebacker and an All-League third baseman.

Two years of catching and outfield for the University of Wyoming led Figone into a season-and-a-half of pro ball in the Cub organization (Morristown, Tennessee, Appalachian League), playing the outfield, first base, and catching.

ANOTHER ex-pro at TN is science teacher Al Reynolds, an East Bay product who was an all CIBA outfielder for Cal's national champions in 1957.

Reynolds, after stops at Modesto in the California State League and Tucson in the Arizona-New Mexico League for the Yankee chain in 1958, got as far as triple A ball with Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League in 1959, when an Air Force reserve call cut his season short.

When he returned from the service, he was asked to go back to a smaller league, and decided to put his teaching credential to use rather than riding buses again.

The other ex-pro on the Tiger Faculty squad is basketball coach Rich Burt.

A catcher, Burt was with Thomasville in the Georgia-Florida League in '50 and Richmond (American Association, (Jamestown (Pony League) and Williamsport (Eastern League) in 1951, before a two-year call to the Coast Guard.

He returned to the pro game for one year after discharge (Wilkes Barre in the Eastern League and Idaho Falls in the Pioneer League), and then gave it up for coaching.

None of the three, incidentally, will quote his pro batting averages.

ONE VARSITY member who held his end up was first sacker Marty Coil, quite an athlete, who made Honorable Mention league honors in football and was runner-up in passing to Westmoor's vaunted Bruce Hix despite a mid-season change in position from end to quarterback (when the Tigers continued going winless, one wag suggested the only way for them to win was to have Coil pass to himself), who broke scads of Tiger basketball records and was a second team NPL selection, and who was a close runner-up in the baseball batting title and the league's choice as first string first baseman.

Marty topped off quite a senior year last week by being named his baseball team's most Valuable player, becoming the only Tiger athlete ever to be most valuable in three sports (he so got it in football and basketball).

ONE MORE Terra Nova item.

Gene McKamey, recently resigned football coach, grandly announced the other day that he was a spring training bat boy for the old Oakland Oaks at Boys' Springs in 1944, under manager Dolph Camilli.

McKamey, incidentally, is one of the most gracious losers—as coaches go—we've ever met.

He went winless last year with a team that had little to begin with and which incurred a fantastic run of injuries during the season to what few key men he had.

We never haw him lose his temper, have a harsh word for anybody, or refuse to talk about it all immediately after the game.

We wish him luck at Cloverdale High next year.

JEFFERSON Union High School District golfing teachers are holding a tournament at Sharp Park Friday, and if a Calcutta existed, Oceana basketball coach Dick Warne would be the gamblers' choice.

At the last tournament, Warne, who usually takes these things, had a low gross 43 and low net 36 in the championship flight.

Westmoor's basketball coach, Tony Giammona, won the beginner's flight with a net of 35½, but refused to allow his gross to be published.

You may have noted the little irony that district golf coaches don't seem to get anywhere in this tournament.

Warne and Giamonna, incidentally, received $3.75 prize money from the whopping 50 cents entry fees charged for the last classic.

We advise them, in the event of future wins, not to accept that sum any more. With that much in their pockets, they could be picked up for vagrancy.

One thing about that entry fee, though, it'll keep the big names out of the tournament.

IF ANY of you have noticed that 7 foot (yes, we said 7 foot), 250-pound construction worker at the Terra Nova increment construction site, don't wrack your brains trying to figure where you saw him on a basketball court.

He's never played the game. . .

His name is Jim Bell and he wrestles professionally under the name of El Gato Grande (The Big Cat).

GET YOUR name in this column, you win at politics. Undoubtedly only because we've chosen to mention him once or twice, Joe Verducci is now a county supervisor; and John Burton, a new San Francisco assemblyman, had a column devoted to him in November of last year, before he even considered politics, because of his former basketball prowess with S.F. State.

Power of the press.

Tigers Gain 5th Victory; Lions Win 2

Here is a rundown of action in baseball leagues sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department:

MIDGET FAR WEST

The OLM Lions chalked up two wins last week. They overwhelmed their stablemates, the OLM Panthers, by a 13-3 count and then came from behind in the fifth inning to down George Harrison Realty.

Jim Bresnahan's single with the bases loaded gave the Lions the win. John Zidich was the winning pitcher. He recorded a three-hitter. Rick Guisti was the loser although he gave up only one hit.

Gary Goldie belted a triple with the bases loaded and the score tied to give the Trojans a win over the OLM Panthers. The Trojans rolled on to a 12-3 victory.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

The PAL Tigers won their fifth game of the season, downing the BYA Bender Roofers, 6-2. Rex Newby broke up the contest with a triple with a man on base.

Bobby Nolan was the winning hurler. He gave up four hits, struck out seven and walked five.

George Poulas starred in a catcher's role for the losers. He threw out five men trying to steal second base. He also doubled in both Roofer runs.

In other action, the Holy Angels Shamrocks won a close game from the OLPH Yanks, 5-4. Larry Mannini came in to relieve Don Belluomini and save the contest.

He pitched one-hit ball for four innings.

Meeting Set For Lob Ball

An organizational meeting for the 1964 Daly City Adult Lob Ball League will be held at 7:30 next Wdnesday evening at the War Memorial Community Center.

Representatives of all church civic and fraternal groups interested in entering the league are invited to attend.

At the meeting, a review and revision of the rules will be conducted and the league will be organized.

Lob ball was introduced in Daly City for the first time last year. The new brand of softball has become increasingly popular in the United States, officials point out.

Key feature of the game is the absence of balls and strikes called by an umpire.

Further information may be obtained from the Recreation Department at PL 5-0850.

SISLER'S MARK

ST. LOUIS—George Sisler set a major league record which still stands when he recorded 257 hits as a member of the old St. Louis Browns in 1921.

EXPERIMENT ENDS

JESD Track to Continue in '65

The second phase of a two-part experiment in track at the elementary school level was held Saturday at Colma Intermediate School by the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Nevertheless, Hjuardo said, the results of the experiment were "fruitful" and he plans to continue with the track meets next year.

Purpose of the track meets was to encourage participation in sports at the elementary level.

Two students from the Franklin meet were repeaters at last week's Colma meet.

Rosalie Guillen took firsts in the 50-yard dash and the 110-yard run for fifth grade girls and Thalia Fuller took first in the 75-yard dash for sixth grade girls. Both are students at M. Pauline Brown.

Two other double winners were Donald Redmond and Marvin Araquistin of George Washington.

Redmond took firsts in the 60-yard dash and the 110-yard run for sixth grade boys and Araquistin gained a first in the same event for fifth grade boys.

Other winners were Ken and Robert Smith of Westlake, Ronalda Hackett, Richard Saiz and Bernice Maldonado of George Washington, Robin Simon of Abraham Lincoln and Richard Brugioni of Jefferson.

Benefit Dance Is Scheduled

A benefit dance for the Tri-City Baseball League will be held Friday night, June 19, from 9 to 2 at the House of Parties in Daly City.

The dance will feature the music of Rudy Milon, a buffet dinner and door prizes.

George Benson and Bill Shelver are co-chairmen. Proceeds will be used to defray the expenses of the league and its eight participating teams.

Four Named All-Stars

Coaches of the North Peninsula and San Francisco DeMolay Baseball League have elected Westmoor High School seniors Jim Orlich and Rich Davis to the league's all-star team.

Two Westmoor graduates, Dave Peeblies and John Guz, also were named to the team.

Olympic Duo Win Catspaw

A pair of 13 handicappers mastered the rolling California Golf Club fairways to win the annual Catspaw Invitational at the South San Francisco Club Saturday.

Lew Fazackerly and Bob Crampton, both of San Francisco's Olympic Club, turned in a 54-hole total of 194 in the three-day event.

A net 64 on the final day gave them a one-stroke margin over the teams of Don Tedson and Bob Dakin and Al Meier and Al Hayman.

Dick Harris and Bert Williams, the first day leaders, faded out of the money.

Bud Shank and Morgan Barofsky won the low gross honors with rounds of 68-67-70.

Art Dettner and Dan Bonfigli finished just two strokes back when they put on a furious finish which included eagles on the fourth and ninth holes.

In the Ladies' 640 Scratch League, Helen Noone led the field with a 210 game and 567 series.

Monday evening is now "Fun Night" at Westlake as the latest in fun bowling was introduced last Monday night with the start of a weekly "No-Tap Scotch Doubles."

Held every Monday at 7:30 p.m. this promises to be a most popular event open to both men and women at a cost of only $4.00 per person. Handicap is on the basis of 66 2-3 per cent for men and 80 per cent for women. No advance registration is necessary.

SECOND SUMMER

Tri-City to Open Season

The Tri-City Summer Baseball League will begin its second summer of play Sunday. The league is sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

Three games will feature the opening day schedule.

The league this season will play a round-robin schedule. The top four clubs then will play in a post-season tournament.

One point will be awarded to winners of both league and tournament play. Should two teams finish with a point each, a one-game playoff will determine the over-all championship.

D. C. RECREATION PROGRAM

The Start of Another Round of Activities

SUMMER GENERALLY means the end of work, at least for students and teachers.

For the Daly City Recreation Department, however, it means the start of another busy round of activities designed to keep children and teen-agers in Daly City busy.

According to Department Director Charles Vincent, a booklet outlining the summer program will be mailed to Daly City residents during the next week.

The year's programs include several features instituted with success last year, Vincent said.

Teen drama classes, under the direction of Nedra Merrick, will continue with meetings scheduled on Mondays and Wednesdays from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Westmoor Little Theater.

A SIMILAR endeavor will be started on the adult level this summer when the Daly City Players make their debut. Meetings will take place at the Westlake Clubhouse Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m.

Also new for adults is a table tennis program at the Westlake Clubhouse Mondays from 7 to 10 p.m.

Other adult activities planned are lob ball league, the Daly City Rockhounds, the Numismatic Society, the Jefferson Bridge Club, the El Camino Reelers, and the Community Chorus.

With additional tennis facilities available this year, an expanded tennis instruction program also is planned. Registraton, on a first come-first served basis, is being taken at the War Memorial Community Center.

The classes will take place at Westmoor Park, Westlake Park, Jefferson High School and Colma Junior High School.

SEVERAL NEW special events are also planned by the department.

Included this year for the first time are trips to Marin Town and Country Club, Samuel Taylor State Park, Ca land's Fairyland, the San Mateo County Fair and a San Francisco Giants' baseball game.

The department also will have several "stand-bys" such as roller-skating and Playland-at-the-Beach trips, Golden Gate Park outings, penny carnivals, Tournament Day and Junior Olympics, Vincent said.

Feature-length movies, also initiated last year, will return to this year's summer program.

Among the films to be shown at various loctaions throughout the city are: "Rogues of Sherwood Forest," "Davy Crockett," "Al Kazam the Great," "Adventures of Tom Sawyer," "Sally and St. Anne," "Black Horse Canyon," "Penrod and Sam," "The Snow Queen," "Bomba the Jungle Boy," a "Panda and the Magic Serpent."

COMMENT

Planning Needs Public's Voice

DALY CITY'S planning commission is presently in the midst of hearings on a zoning ordinance that will have a lot to do with whether this city's future growth is orderly or topsy-turvy.

Last night was the second in the series of hearings on the ordinance, which has been in the drafting stage for almost a year and a half.

While this far-reaching ordinance has both immediate and long-range significance for every resident of Daly City—and to their future generations—it concerns us that only one solitary taxpayer was present at the initial hearing on this vital piece of legislation.

With apartments building at an ever-accelerating pace and with a vast new residential development now on the horizon, laws governing the use of our remaining undeveloped property will be the key to Daly City's stature as a future leader among Peninsula cities.

Substandard building, overdensity of land use, and lack of proper aesthetic controls will ultimately take their toll — as has already been dramatically demonstrated elsewhere in the county.

WE HAVE SAID before that the builders and developers of this community cannot be expected to legislate against themselves.

Many expert minds and long hours of work have contributed to the creation of this proposed zoning ordinance. Yet, undoubtedly, there will be revisions in the plan that are justified.

But it would be, indeed, lamentable if in this series of hearings not more than one member of the citizenry turned out to voice his views on this important measure. Because it is their livelihood and their investment, the builders of the community most assuredly will be well represented at these hearings. In most cases, their interests also will best serve the interests and progressive growth of the entire community.

But we don't think the planning decisions should be made by default.

Copies of the proposed zoning ordinances are available at the Public Works Department.

The next hearing in the series is scheduled for June 23.

If the first hearing is any indication, there'll be plenty of good seats available at the council chambers. Daly City residents who would like at least a participating spectator role in the future of their community should not find their time wasted at this next planning commission hearing.

The Marquee

Eloquent 'Becket'

Barbara Bladen

THE DIGNITY of "Becket," a masterful film of pageantry and artistry. is not the least of its virtues. The impressive account and violent conflict between church and state in twelfth century England that playwright Jean Anouilh put into words for the stage and Edward Anhalt broadened for the screen is now playing at the United Artists Theatre in San Francisco.

The movie redeems Richard Burton (Becket) as one of the generation's most peerless actors. His eloquent performance is readily matched by the towering display of emotional power and soul searching anguish by Peter O'Toole (King Henry).

The two complement each other in scenes of flawless encounter, some of wit, others of terror. The three-hour-long spectacle never lags in interest due to the creativity of director Peter Glenville who was also responsible for the highly praised New York production with Laurence Olivier and Anthony Quinn.

IT MAY BE my profound impression of seeing that play that colors my judgment here. Quinn so readily assayed the bombastic role of the brawling, drunken, profligate king that O'Toole's delicate and fair skinned physique and aesthetic features make him more a truant juvenile than an awesome monarch.

While Henry purports to be ignorant and coarsely insensitive, I can't help feeling there was maliciousness in his relations with Becket that deny his proclaimed "love."

History gets a hard knocking, a prerogative of playwrights, but the story generates a dramatic impact that has mass appeal. Those who are familiar with the facts of the Plantaganet's reign and Becket's martyrdom and sainthood will have to forgive for the sake of dramatic license.

The inseparable companions share the kingdom of politics, the insatiable pursuit of women and the boisterous escapades of hunting and drinking. But Henry's constant opposition from his barons and church leaders draw him closer to Becket as an ally.

By making Becket Archbishop of Canterbury, he thinks he is assured fidelity and trust. Becket is ordained in a magnificent ceremony and accepts his new role as a duty that soon becomes a calling. His allegiance to the honor of God supersedes his affection for Henry and the personal clash splits the kingdom with disastrous effect.

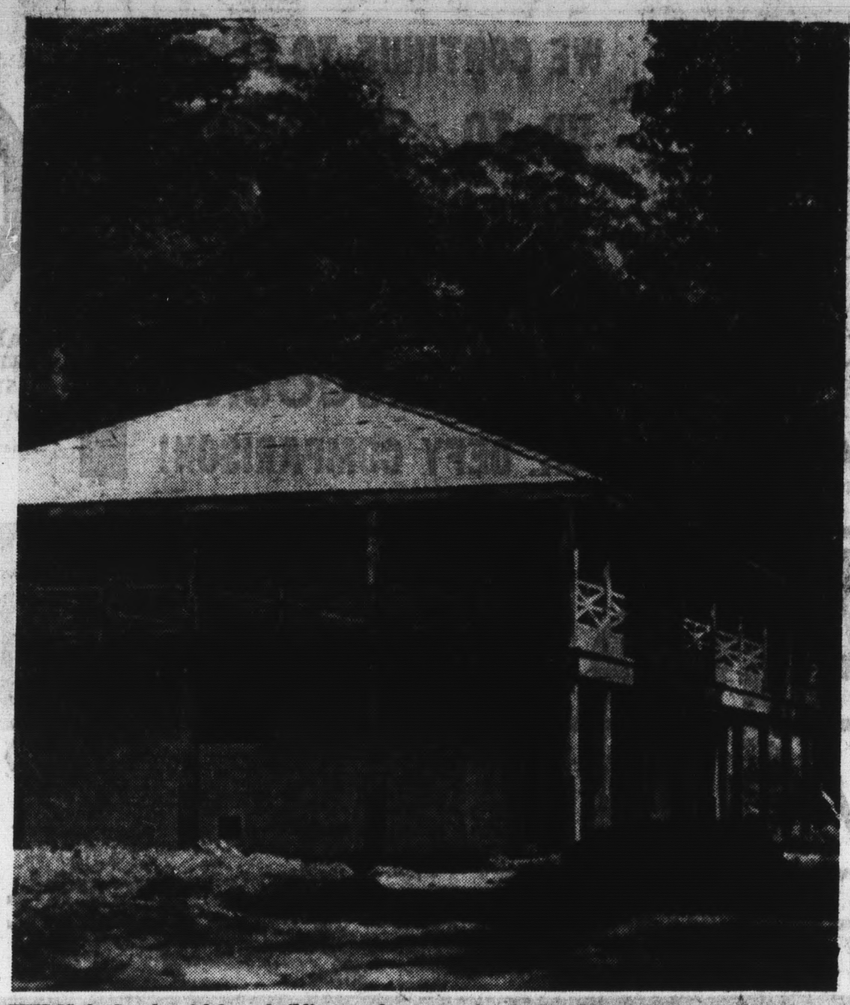
THE PASSIONATE confession of love by Henry before he condemns Becket as a traitor is so gripping, one is enthralled by the majesty of O'Toole's grief prompted decision.

Burton is not a facial actor. His eyes don't flash forecast of his actions but there is never a doubt as to his motives or surety of purpose. The transition from protector of the throne to protector of the faith is perhaps accomplished too quickly. Although Becket is branded an opportunist and ambitious collaborator the charge is never resolved.

The cast is stellar in its talents. Sir John Gielgud as the cavalier King Louis; Pamela Brown as the carping queen; Martita Hunt as the phlegmatic counselor-queen mother; and Donald Wolfit as the vindictive bishop of London give excellent portrayals.

The movie was filmed in England where the largest interior set (Canterbury Church) ever built in Europe was constucted. The beauteous pomp of the Hal Wallis production cannot be denied. But it's the subtlety of style exemplified by Burton and O'Toole put to interpreting the ring prose of Anouilh that leaves little more to be desired in the appreciation of fine films.

The Sanchez Adobe



THIS IS the Sanchez Adobe, a building nearly 120 years old in Pacifica that has been restored as a historical monument by the San Mateo County Parks and Recreation Commission. The structure, built of adobe bricks, stands just about the same today as it did when it was completed by Don Francisco Sanchez in 1846. The monument is located at Linda Mar Boulevard and Adobe Drive and is open to visitors from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays. This is another in a series of pictures, depicting parks and historical areas within a day's driving time of North County points.

North County Notebook

A Verbal Civil War in County

Ron Bates

A VERBAL Civil War between the North and the South (County, that is) took place a couple of weeks ago when the San Mateo County Council of Mayors met at the Villa Chartier.

Redwood City Mayor John Rozelli, who took over as chairman of the council when Joe Verducci resigned to run for supervisor, made the point that there are quite a few common problems for cities that could be resolved if officials sat down and discussed the problems.

He said the existence of the North County Council of Cities was preventing this by, more or less, splitting the county.

The North County Council is composed of seven of the 17 cities in the county. They are Daly City, Pacifica, South San Francisco, Brisbane, San Bruno, Millbrae and Burlingame.

Rozelli's charge brought cries of protest from members of that North County group.

Although they all denied that the existence of the NCCC was not to split the county, their remarks tended to emphasize the fact the North figures there's strength in numbers and they intend to keep it that way.

As Don Risso of San Bruno put it: "Before the North County Council of Cities was formed, we had as much representation in Redwood City as an ant on the floor."

RISSO SAID the organization has evolved into a group that meets to exchange ideas on several problems and although members don't always agree, at least each knows how the other guy feels.

This argument was put several different ways by several different people but it could not completely convince the southerners and words continued to fly.

Former Pacifica Mayor Harold Feyge suggested that a study on forming a countywide group, similar to the North County organization, would probably prove interesting.

One of the representatives suggested that perhaps a South County Council could be formed and meet alternately with a countywide group.

Things finally quieted down after everybody agreed to bring up some problems to discuss at the next meeting.

ONE OF THE problems brought up quite frequently as a prime one to solve was a common pay scale for city employees.

Most of the mayors now are discussing budgets and are feeling the pressure pinch by their employees for increases. One of the favorite wedges, the mayors point out, is the cry: "Well, look what this other city is paying."

Some of the pessimists, however, said a common scale will never come to pass—that it would be a shot in the dark.

Robert Garvey of San Mateo gave a warning to the cities that, sooner or later, they'll be faced with the headache of one uniformed department haggling with the other as to which is more valuable and deserves more money.

I'll have more about that in another column.

JOE VERDUCCI'S vote total last week of better than 55 per cent of the ballots cast gave him the supervisor's seat held now by Alvin Hatch in the Fifth District. If he hadn't pulled better than 50 per cent, he and Jean Fassler would be getting ready for another go-around in November.

As the precinct results rolled into tabulation headquarters, starting from the South County, Verducci jumped to the lead right away and never fell lower than 52 per cent.

Verducci's win was no surprise to anybody but the margin of victory was. Everybody expected a November runoff, especially after Verducci opponents began blasting away with what turned out to be the only campaign issue — Verducci's two jobs.

The hotly-contested Republican battle between Goldwater and Rockefeller and the Senate battle between Salinger and Cranston may have been the factors that gave the election to Verducci.

When you stop to think that most Peninsulans are either San Franciscans who made good and wanted better weather or San Francisco State graduates, it all totals up to a good many votes.

NOW THAT it's over with, what happens?

Verducci is taking a rest and has said that if the two jobs are too much, he'll cut down on his teaching load.

There is the possibility that Mrs. Fassler may try to get her council seat back in the city elections a year and a half away. Both she and Verducci put everything on the line when they gave up their seats to bump heads for Hatch's post.

A rumor is being circulated in Pacifica that Mrs. Fassler is being considered for the Pacifica postmaster's job that has been vacant for a couple of months. However, Congressman J. Arthur Younger is a Republican and Mrs. Fassler is a very active Democrat.

But then, who knows?

The Book Shelf

By SAMUEL CHANDLER
Daly City Librarian

"WAGON WEST," by Leslie Turner White, is a sophisticated western, like "Trail Boss," and "Wagon Train," of TV and the movie, "How the West Was Won."

Around the central figures move stock characters of the trail outlaws in Missouri, gunfighters in Kansas, Indians in Wyoming, Mormons in Utah, immigrants on the Las Vegas trail to California.

The hero is John Jackson, a medical doctor from Boston. He is going West with Blacky Dupre and Blacky's daughter, Merry. Before the story ends with the Doctor and Merry trading their dreams of life in California for a hospital in a settlement that must be in Nevada but might be in Utah, the doctor learns to cure men with a gun as well as with a scalpel.

Although this old plot is cleverly written, it leads to the question, why is the Old West such a popular theme in the 20th century literature?

TWO ANSWERS have been given. Both are valid.

One holds that the settling of the West was America's greatest opportunity and richest national experience. The men who advance this theory believe that the so-called American way of life originated in the settling of the West.

Moreover, the government and the economic basis of this country rest upon principles laid down by the builders of the West.

The other reason holds that Westerns, with all their violence and adventure; their good guys and bad-men present a welcome relief to the routines of office life and city living. Thus westerns give vicarious adventures to Americans; as the pirate tales did to 18th century Englishmen and the medieval sagas gave to the men of feudal Europe.

Anyway, "Wagon West" is being widely read. Watch for the movie.

A Treat From South Africa

Don Miller

STUDENTS of Westmoor High School — and adults in the Daly City community as well — will be in for an unusual treat during the school year that opens next September.

The treat will be a visitor from South Africa — a 17-year-old miss who will be staying with a Daly City family as a foreign exchange student.

Her name is Barbara Ann Vanston of Port Elizabeth and she is described as a tall, white girl with brown hair and eyes. Her father is a senior pilot in the South African Air Force.

Barbara's special interests are sports, science, history, dressmaking, debating and choral singing. She hopes someday to become a pharmacist.

What makes her visit here unusually interesting is that Barbara is living in a land that practices one of the most rigid racial policies in existence in the world today.

It's the South African policy of apartheid — the complete separation of the races — a policy that has fomented considerable unrest in this most southern of African nations and a policy some world leaders fear will someday lead to a violent blood bath.

Barbara's visit to our shores comes in a year that has seen our own nation become increasingly involved with racial problems of its own.

These problems have been reflected here in the Bay Area by all manner of picketing and by resultant trials in San Francisco that have been unprecedented in terms of the demands the trials have placed on the courts.

BARBARA HAS indicated that she wants the opportunity to inform students and adults in the Daly City community of the customs and politics of South Africa.

In view of the apartheid policy and in the light of our own racial unrest, her visit promises to be one of the most informative student exchange programs ever carried out in these parts.

While she attends Westmoor for a year, she will be a "member" of the family of Ellis Waird, at 173 St. Francis Boulevard. Her host sister will be Susan Waird, who will be a senior at Westmoor in September and who has been active in the school's student international club.

Barbara will be the second foreign student to spend a year in Daly City and attend Westmoor. A year ago, Helena Frisell of Sweden paved the way and proved to be a charming representative of the land of Scandinavia.

THE STUDENT exchange program, of course, works the other way also and this summer two Westmoor juniors will leave for Europe to represent Daly City and the nation as part of this international friendship program.

Tery Hunter will live with a family in Austria and Linda Wallace will become a temporary member of a German family.

Naturally, these trips cost money and the funds are raised by various means — including the purchase of so-called "shares" in the Exchange program.

According to the Citizens International Friendship Committee of Daly City, some of the funds to send Terry and Linda overseas have been raised at Westmoor by students.

However, the committee points out, it's now the turn of the community-at-large to come forth with their contributions to a program that, we believe, should never be allowed to falter for a minute.

Those contibutions, by the way, may be sent to the American Field Service Fund, Westmoor High School, 131 Westmoor Avenue, Daly City.

WHEN THE last strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" fade away in North County high schools this week, the sound that graduates will hear taking the place of that majestic music will be the labored breathing of a tired and weary old world, badly in need of the freshness of approach these graduates have to offer.

For although it can be said that every graduating class steps into a world beset with aches and pains, there probably have been few periods in recent history when the leaders of tomorrow have been faced with such a weighty challenge as that confronting them today — both within and outside America.

For many, the next bend in the road will lead to college and, hopefully, to the kind of training and instruction that will equip them to meet the ever-increasing complexities of life midway in the sixth decade of this harried 20th century.

These complexities take a thousand forms and at first glance, it seems too much to expect anyone to gain in an institution of higher learning all the tools necessary to intelligently appraise them and reach some sort of decision on how they should be met, considered, weighed, resolved or what have you.

If you'll look, however, at the awards and honors gained by 1964 graduates of North County high schools, we think you'll agree that our young gals and guys will be entering college this fall with a better than even chance of picking up the lion's share of those vital tools.

All of which is our roundabout way of saying to you grads — "Great job, gang! Now let's go out and wow that old world."

Peninsula Panorama

The Month of June Grooms (?)

George Whitesell

NOW IT'S the month of the June brides.

To this department, it has always seemed a bit peculiar that we raise such a fuss every year over the June brides—but no one ever says much about the June grooms.

You can't have a June bride without a June groom and, however logical this may be, it no doubt seems unjust to a good many women.

The June brides, of course, are much more pleasing to the eye than the June grooms. This is an effect largely procured at considerable expense to another man—the father of the bride.

But it must be remembered papa is making one final splurge in the hope that it will relieve him of a long-term liability.

The father of the groom is not so sure about this. He may even have a premonition that he will get an opportunity for personal investigation of the old theory that "two can live as cheaply as one."

It may be all too true, he fears, that "he is not losing a son, but gaining a daughter."

Actually, neither father is running too much of a risk because well-planned weddings have a much better chance of lasting and being successful than the spur-of-the moment nuptials and the elopements.

IF THE BRIDE and groom can put up with all the frou-frou of a June wedding, and can wait for it, they have already suffered together and marital problems may never look so large again.

Peninsulans who attend June weddings and whisper to one another that the bride and groom seem "a little young," are only catching up to what the census department found out a long time ago.

According to the census statisticians there has been a general trend toward earlier marriages going on for a hundred years!

The reason it is so noticeable now is that the process is accelerating.

Today a full half of all the men who marry at all have the knot tied before they are 23. For the girls the median is 20.

THIS DEPARTMENT is not quite certain what they mean by a "full half" of the men.

From observation, most of the male guests at wedding receptions get considerably fuller than the groom. When the bill for the champagne comes in it is hard to believe that anyone was half full and easy to believe there was considerably more than a full half of those attending.

And though many a groom appears unsteady while taking the vows, it hardly seems fair to imply that half of them are full before they can go through with it.

Full or half full, the census experts say that the proportion of married in the 20-24 age bracket has doubled since 1940, from 27 to 52 per cent.

It has also been said, but not by the census bureau, that 60 per cent of all the women in the United States are married—with this figure subject to change when the plans of the 40 per cent work out.

For the June brides, their plans have worked out, and now a lot of them will quit working.

By another June, however, a lot of them will know that the only part of working they have given up is the pay check.

Despite all this, June weddings are a great institution and a boon to the rice industry.

THEY ARE beautiful and solemn ceremonies, often more solemn than the participants suspect.

The brides are gorgeous to look at and it is no wonder that few people have eyes for the groom. The groom is usually too nervous to care anyway.

Besides, the bride will be telling him how he looks forever afterward.

And if he really wants to know there will be plenty of wedding pictures to remind him. But to be truthful, have you ever heard a man say? "Let's get out the wedding pictures and look at them, dear."

BETTER BUSINESS

Siding Racket Gimmicks Cited

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor, Better Business Bureau "Barometer"

A MEETING held three months ago of representatives of Better Business Bureaus, law enforcement agencies, and aluminum siding dealers kicked off a study into the model residing job racket that led to a statewide investigation of the alleged "suede shoe" operations and brought out into the open a well co-ordinated swindle on unsuspecting homeowners.

To date more than 30 deals have come to the attention of the district attorney's office and are presently under investigation.

The aluminum siding business is a legitimate one and the majority of the firms in this field have never been the subject of any problem or complaint to the bureau.

Unfortunately, there are a few concerns who account for the majority of complaints from the public because of misleading statements and misrepresentations on the part of the sales people.

On May 13, the Better Business Bureau column went into detail describing the "model residing racket" and the procedure used which all homeowners should be made familiar.

The Better Business Bureau has no law enforcement powers to put unethical dealers out of business, but when no action is taken by a business to correct misleading statements in advertising after it has been taken to task by the bureau, it attempts to expose and report the situation to the consuming public.

THE CHICAGO Better Business Bureau exposed a case where a 39-year-old widow with six children to support on a take-home pay of $62 per week, was taken for a $3,900 siding job. One of the papers she had unwittingly signed before the siding was up was a "completion certificate" which signified the job had been done to her entire satisfaction.

A reputable siding firm estimated the entire cost of her job at $400.

Nationally known aluminum manufacturers have no local representatives going door to door. Kaiser Aluminum publicly disclaimed such representations when one Bay Area firm went so far as to have door-knob hanger advertisements printed up completely omitting its name but instead used a reutrn postcard with the name Kaiser Aluminum.

Reynolds Aluminum does not offer a referral program and does not approve of a sales pitch on the strength of a "model home" pitch.

Homeowners can avoid being victimized on a residing job, or other home improvement work, if they heed the following guide:

(1) Take your time! Do not rush into any important home improvement job.

(2) Beware of the salesman who represents at the outset that your home is desired as a "model" and promises a commission for each sales lead or sale in the area, and who states or implies that such commissions will defray substantially all of the cost of the job.

(3) Deal only with firms whose dependability and reliability are known to you, or which you have established through intelligent inquiry.

(4) Get several estimates from reliable local firms and make sure that you understand exactly what each bid includes and what work is excluded.

(5) Get the names of several others in or near your home town who have done business with the contractor selected and find out from them whether their experience was satisfactory or otherwise. Do not rely on written testimonials.

(6) Make sure that the salesman you are dealing with represents the company you think he does and that the firm handles the brand, or brands claimed by the salesman.

(7) Read and understand the contract before you sign and keep a copy of it.

(8) Make sure that the sales representations made to you are set forth in substance in the contract. If they are not, don't sign.

(9) Do not sign a completion certificate until the job is in fact complete.

(10) If the work is guaranteed, be sure that you understand the specific terms and conditions of the guarantee and that they are incorporated in the contract.

Theme of the birthday party is "Lucky 13." All 91 center stores will participate in the observance.

Ingredients include 245 pounds of flour, 72 pounds of butter, 31 pounds of shortening, 322 pounds of sugar, 12 pounds of salt, 480 eggs, 76 quarts of milk, nine and a half pounds of baking powder, 660 egg whites and two pounds of cream of tartar.

Passenger Gain Told At Airport

Air passengers through San Francisco International Airport during April totaled 51,419, an increase of 6.5 per cent over April last year, Belford Brown, airport general manager has reported to the Public Utilities Commission.

Brown said the local gain was less than the 10 per cent increase reported for the domestic trunklines in April, but attributed the lesser percentage to a decline in deplaning (arriving) passengers.

The enplaning passenger total was 10.4 per cent above the April, 1963 figure, approximately the same as the reported national increase.

The cumulative total for the first 10 months of the current fiscal year in air passengers was 6,077,748, which is more than the figure for the whole 1962 calendar year, or any previous comparable 12-month period.

U. S. mail shipments by air decreased 1.2 per cent, and Brown said the decline was due to a drop in air mail volume.

First class mail shipped by air was 8.7 per cent more than April last year.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

HERE IT is June 10 and you know what this day is don't you? It's the day the Withholding Tax Bill was signed in 1943. Isn't that a fascinating fact? When you're at a party and the conversation lags, you can add this exciting tidbit.

Sorry that I don't have a recipe for Withholding Tax Pudding (this indicates a serious deficiency in my recipe files), but you can't accuse me of wthholding good recipes for I have a trio of delights to share with you good cooks today.

The first one was given to me by Mrs. JoEllen Lawrence of 94 Baldwin Avenue, Daly City. I know from happy experience how good this dish is and it has that extra feature busy hostesses love—you can make it ahead and store it in the refrigerator until you are ready to heat and serve it.

GREEN BEANS SWISS STYLE

- 2 cans green beans, French style
- 1 cup sour cream
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt and pepper
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon grated onion
- 2 cups crushed cornflakes
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- ½ pound Swiss Cheese, grated

Melt the butter in a small frying pan, add the flour and stir until blended, add salt, pepper, sugar and grated onion. Heat, stirring constantly, until it bubbles. Then remove and cool slightly and add sour cream. Mix and combine with beans.

Pour into a buttered casserole and grate the Swiss cheese over the top. Finally, mix the melted butter and crushed cornflakes and spread over the casserole. Cover with foil. Bake in 400-degree oven for 20 minutes. Serves eight.

THERE IS an old saying that the three fastest means of communication are telegraph, telephone and tell-a-woman. I consider this a base canard and am the first one to defend "us gals." But I will admit that to tell-a-woman a good recipe gives it speed and distance. As an example, this recipe comes to us from Mrs. Polly Miller of Riverside. She used to live in San Francisco.

ZUCCHINI SCALLOP

- 4 tablespoons shortening
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 4 zucchini
- 2 tomatoes
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon oregano
- Pepper to taste
- 2 tablespoons parmesan cheese

Melt two tablespoons shortening in baking dish. Sprinkle onion over the melted butter. Pare and halve zucchini and quarter each piece (8 sticks). Slice each tomato into eight wedges and arrange zucchini and tomatoes over onion. Combine sugar, salt, oregano and pepper and sprinkle over vegetables. Dot with the two tablespoons of margarine you saved. Cover. Bake in 350-degree oven for one hour. Sprinkle with parmesan cheese before serving.

THIS LAST offering is a varation on the cake mix and instant pudding theme. The orange juice gives the cake a nice color and taste. Mrs. Fran Cohen of 1501 Thirty-fourth Avenue, San Francisco, was the generous gal who gave me the recipe.

INSTANT PUDDING CAKE

- 1 package lemon cake mix
- 4 eggs
- ½ cup oil
- 1 package instant lemon pudding
- 1 cup orange juice

Combine all ingredients and bake in a large tube pan for 40 to 45 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Cool in pan, right side up, on cake rack for about 15 minutes. Then remove from pan and sprinkle with powdered sugar. (Be sure to sift the powdered sugar over the cake. It makes it more even and eye appealing.)

P-TA Sponsors Baseball Teams

The Thomas Edison P-TA has initiated a pilot study in sponsoring boys' baseball teams. Three teams, supported by the P-TA, have been entered in the Daly City Farm League sponsored by the city's recreation department.

Teacher Bruce Russell is primarily responsible for the project, approved by the executive board with the objective of providing elementary school boys an opportunity to participate and improve their skills during the summer.

Hope Chapter Plans Social

The Golden Torch Chapter of the City of Hope will sponsor a social for members and prospective members at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in the Lake Merced Boathouse.

Entertainment will be provided by Little Billy Williams, a guitarist and singer of country western music, formerly associated with Radio Station WMGY in Montgomery, Ala.

Refreshments will be served. Further information may be obtained from Reuben Pinkus at PL 5-8538.

New Officers Are Elected

Newly elected officers of Colma Vista Grande Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, presided for the first time at a meeting of the Aerie Thursday.

Myron Heggum, president, made appointments to the membership, entertainment, delinquency and picnic committees.

Suspended Boys Lauded by Judge

Superior Court Judge W. Howard Hartley told two South San Francisco boys last week that, even though he might have to rule against their cause, he would be "proud to have either of you as my son."

The boys are Gerald, 17, and Bruce Tognetti, 14, sons of South San Francisco Police Officer Paul Tognetti.

They were among a group of students who were suspended in March on charges of drinking and smoking.

Their father had petitioned the court to order to set aside the suspensions and order them reinstated in all school activities.

The boys' attorney, Thomas T. Bocci, said it was especially important in the case of Gerald, who might lose an appointment to the United States Naval Academy because of the suspension.

The drinking and smoking incident occurred during a Model United Nations conference in Berkeley, which was attended by top students of several high schools.

During the hearing before Judge Hartley, it was testified that seven of the boys from South San Francisco had contributed $1 each to buy two small bottles of whiskey, which they drank in a hotel room.

Bruce said that he didn't have a drink but dumped it down a wash basin. "Someone came along and I was scared," he said.

A teacher, Miss Charlene Smith, one of two chaperones with the group, said the boys came to her room and asked her to join the party.

She said she became angry and told them to go to bed. The boys said later that they were only joking.

Bocci claimed, among other things, that the suspensions were illegal because the incident did not happen on school grounds.

Judge Hartley who took the case under submission, commented:

"All of the equities seem to be on one side and the legalities on the other. But we can't let our heads be led by our hearts."

"Regardless of how the court has to rule on this case," he added, "I want you to know that I'd be proud to have either of you as my son. Your honesty is unquestioned."

Judge Hartley offered to write to the Naval Academy, if that would help Gerald with his appointment.

Zoning for Apartments Is Held Up

Plans for a giant new apartment project of some 20 units overlooking the ocean at the eastern end of the Sharp Park valley were put over until Monday by Pacific planning commissioners last week despite a recomendation from the city's planning administrator they be rejected outright.

The commission continued an application from Hollis Sweeney, asking that 9.3 acres of very hilly land at the end of the valley below the Sharp Park Road be rezoned from an agricultural area to an apartment area, to allow time for a field trip to inspect the land.

A planning administrator's request noted that the city's general plan calls for single family, hillside homes in the area, which now has no access to it.

Access to the property, the report continued, would have to be along "minor residential" streets."

A city engineer's report said that "any increase in densities in the rear of the existing residential development will create difficulties for the city in providing sewage facilities for the proposed development.

"At the time of construction of the original subdivision, sewer trunk lines were, in most cases, solely for single family use and proposed future additions of high density multiple use will overtax existing systems."

Commissioners rejected an application for a variance permit from Charles A. Fisher to allow a Red Cross office in a former telephone exchange building in the 1100 block of Peralta Avenue.

Nearby property owners complained of possible traffic congestion and it was pointed out that the telephone company had agreed the property would revert to a single family zoning when the exchange was first permitted.

Planner James Supinger reported on a planning program for the coming year, which will include a review of the zoning ordinance, complete revision of a subdivision ordinance, possible city participation in federally aided planning programs and a $1,200 budget for consulting services.

Last year, $4,500 was allocated for consulting services, according to Supinger.

In other actions during their five-and-a-half-hour long meeting, planners:

Granted Charles Cadjew variance permits to construct triplexes on substandard lots on Montecito Avenue and Salada Avenue.

Cadjew had asked for four-unit structures on both lots west of the highway. It was agreed to limit both buildings to three units unless he further modified building plans.

Cadjew also was granted permission to construct a single-family structure on a substandard lot on Moana Way, east of Cabrillo Highway.

Continued until June 15 an application of Ad-Art, Inc., for an illuminated sign a foot above the roof at the Pacifica U-Save Bottle Shop at 81 Aura Vista to allow the building department to check the already installed sign.

Granted Robert E. Skillman a variance to construct a home on a substandard lot on Sacramento Terrace.

Approved a change in plans to increase an intersection at Hickey Boulevard and Gateway in Fairmont Unit No. 4-A from a three-way to a four-way intersection and to allow two service stations at the intersection.

Divorcee Kills Self

A 51-year-old divorcee who hadn't been seen since Saturday, was found dead in her apartment at 150 First Avenue, Daly City, last Tuesday, an apparent suicide.

Deputy Coroner Robert Cole identified the woman as Mary Jane Roberts. Cole said he was investigating the possible use of drugs.

No notes were found but she had a prior history of suicide attempts, Cole said.

Chester Thomas, 10 First Avenue, said he broke into the Roberts apartment at 11:45 a.m. yesterday and found her body.

He and his wife, Barbara, one of Mrs. Roberts' daughters, had begun to worry about her, he said.

Mrs. Roberts is survived by another daughter living in Denver, Cole said.

Girl Is Injured In Car Crash

An 8-year-old San Francisco girl was injured in a two-car collision at Bellevue Avenue and Guttenberg Street, Daly City, about 1 p.m. Sunday.

Treated for bruises was Narrisa Dotson, a passenger in a car driven by Willie T. Dotson, 35, of San Francisco.

Police identified the driver of the other auto as William A. Jones, 3, of Sacramento.

TOOLS STOLEN

Lawrence Andres of 39 Westline Drive, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that tools and two wheel rims had been taken from his truck.

Terra Nova Topics

By CATHIE REED

AT LAST! We're finally leaving. They're unlocking the doors and handing us pretty rolled up parchments with ribbons on it. The bars are disappearing and the principal is saying something about good behavior. Everybody's going out into that much-talked-about cold, cruel world.

There will be a few tears, and many wonderful memories, but it feels so good to get out. The last few days of this, our senior year, have been a whirlwind of activity, full of fun and excitement. Just about everyone is going to college—better than high school in that it is voluntary imprisonment—so now is the time for saying good-bye.

GRADUATION means that we are prepared to leave the security of our homes and school and to take on the responsibility of taking care of ourselves and possibly a family. We can no longer sit back and watch our parents try to get ahead in the world financially. Many of us will have to help support ourselves, perhaps even leave home.

Although it sounds like a sudden change, this is what we've been going to school for. Even as freshmen, we knew in the back of our minds that this was coming. This sudden leap forward is actually a 17- or 18-year-long step that we've been looking forward to with anticipation. Anyway, it's nice to think that we've been looking forward to it with anticipation.

THE CLASS of '64 has left its mark on the students of Terra Nova. We will long be remembered for our Hootenanny, especially. Ours is the first class to attend Terra Nova for four years—to go through the trials and tribulations of Westmoor and the construction of Terra Nova.

For myself, this has been a very enjoyable year. I've never been so busy having fun and I've never looked forward to anything half as much as graduation.

I would like to thank The Post-Times for making it possible for me to show Terra Nova, through this column, to its readers. I had a lot of fun writing it and I'll miss doing it.

Architect for CSM Campus Is Announced

Three prominent architect firms have been appointed by the College of San Mateo Board of Trustees to design the college district's new $7-million campuses in the north and south county areas.

John Carl Warnecke and Associates, San Francisco, the firm which designed the College Heights campus, was appointed to design the North County campus at San Bruno.

A joint venture firm of Welton Becket and Associates and the recently formed Chan-Radar and Associates received the appointment to design the south county campus in the Farm Hill area bordering Redwood City and Woodside.

Morton Rader and Lun Chan of the latter firm were members of the Warnecke organization and were instrumental in the designing of the College Heights campus.

John Carl Warnecke and Associates, a nationally recognized firm, has also been selected to design the Kennedy Memorial in Arlington National Cemetery.

Welton Becket and Associates have designed the UCLA Medical Center, the U.S. Navy Postgraduate School at Monterey, the California Teachers' Association Building in Burlingame and the Emporium Department Store at Hillsdale.

PACIFICA FIRE

Barking Dog Saves Family

A Pacifica family of seven was saved from possible asphyxiation before dawn Thursday morning by their barking pet dog as smoke poured into their home from a flame-filled garage.

Damage in the fire, which completely destroyed a 1958 auto at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crowder at 300 Moana Drive, was estimated at between $3,000 and $5,000 by firemen.

According to firemen the Crowders' son-in-law, James Shoop, who lives with his wife, Kathy, at the home, had recently overhauled the motor of his vehicle in a rear, detached garage at the home.

Somehow during the night a fire broke out in the garage, apparently near a working bench to the right of a double door at the rear of the garage.

By 4 a.m. flames had filled the garage and were pouring from windows and both sides and doors.

A breezeway between the home and the garage was funneling smoke directly into the home when the Crowders' pet dog began to bark so loudly he awakened Shoop, who aroused his parents-in-law, his wife, and the Crowders' three other children, James, 18; Kitty, 16, and Dennis, 13.

The fire was so hot, firemen said, that paint on the home and on a neighbor's garage across a drainage easement was blistered.

Firemen were able to bring flames under control almost immediately, although they were at the scene almost two hours.

S.S.F. Unit Is Approved

A special session of the South San Francisco City Council has approved a "planned unit development" for Westborough Neighborhood 18, after a long disagreement over street widths.

The council split 3-2 on a motion to approve the planning commission's recommendation with two members disapproving because three cul-de-sac streets are mapped as only 26 feet wide.

Planners had approved the narrower roadway, it was said, because of the large green areas in the neighborhood.

Next step for the council is an ordinance formally changing the zoning from unclassified to planned community use.

London Still Is the Undisputed Style King of Men's Wear Industry

LONDON — London, if you'll pardon the expression, is still the Paris of the men's wear industry.

American manufacturers occasionally poke fun at some of the advanced styling ideas introduced in London but in a year or two the better designs make their way across the Atlantic, especially in the field of suits, outer coats, shirts and shoes.

A case in point is the popularity of the striped shirt which was the rage in London two years ago and now is one of the biggest sellers in America. Another is the slightly fitted hacking jacket with deep vents and slashed pockets which is being promoted in many U.S. stores for Fall.

There is a heavy emphasis on new fashion designs in British woolen textiles to meet the competition of lower priced textiles from Japan and to create a demand in countries with high tariffs.

D. A. Robinson, continental promotion manager for the National Wool Textile Export Corporation, reports the big European trend now is for a twist fabric in which two different colored yarns are twisted together to give variations in color.

Robinson reports a general leveling out of men's fashions in Europe, probably because of the Common Market influence, with Italians and Germans now dressing much alike and quite often reflecting London's Savile Row influence in styles.

"I couldn't think of anything more different than Italian or German tastes but in each case they like the gray effect from black and white, twist or checks, small stripes, checks or hounds tooth," he said. "Black and white is the single most outstanding thing on the continent both in business and sports wear."

The Savile Row tailors also are emphasizing new textile designs. One, Louis Stanbury, reports red and blue blends popular for fall with the younger clients and says light brown with blue or red overchecks will be worn by bolder spirits.

Anthony Holland of Holland and Sherry Ltd., London woolen merchants, reported a trend toward lighter shades and weights with colors introduced to brighten the lighter grays.

Graham Donald, senior partner of a Savile Row woolen firm, reports lighter weights and colors and said: "Designs, too, tend to be classical and simple of small checks and stripes. The fashion for complicated designs has finished."

Also new from Savile Row was a "tonal suit" in three shades of gray. The jacket and trousers were both in double twill woolweave but the jacket was dark gray and the trousers medium gray. The double-breasted vest was in pearl gray twill.

The innovation most likely to catch on with Americans was from Chester Barrie — a completely natural shoulder suit Ivy League styles have a minimum of padding, his had none at all. The suit had a slight body tracing.

Some other trends: Teen-agers were wearing collarless jackets Beatle style. Some shops reported increased interest in belted Norfolk jackets. Other shops reported new interest in Sherlock Holmes-style tweed capes with red lining.

Some of the youngsters were wearing Eton type collars with their collarless jackets but the main emphasis on shirts was a very wide spread collar both in pastel colors and in medium dark tones, some with fly fronts, some with a rolling spread collar. In shoes there was a return to a squared off toe in many lines with teen-agers going in for what look like old-fashioned gaiters or brushed pigskin boots. Some shops showed go-to-hell hats which had a sharply upturned brim at the back and a rakish slant in front. And almost everyone showed James Bond-type trenchcoats.

Cook Lords It Over Ranch at Roundup Time

SANTA FE, N.M.—It doesn't take an iron-clad stomach, a hard day's work or lots of fresh air to enjoy food from an old-fashioned chuckwagon. On the high plains of eastern New Mexico, it's still the fashion.

Twice each year, spring and fall, most New Mexico ranches hold roundups. During those brief weeks of frenzied activity the most feared, most respected, least liked but most sought after man is the cook.

Most cooks these days use pickup trucks instead of the old-fashioned chuckwagons. Some are even equipped with butane powered stoves and refrigerators. Running water comes from large tanks stored beneath the truck beds.

The menu? It's plain and simple. Breakfast: fried steak, stewed peaches or prunes, fried potatoes, biscuits or "hot rocks" and coffee. Lunch: beef sandwiches or barbecue, canned peaches, beans and more coffee. Supper: stew, consisting of choice beef cuts, potatoes, onions, canned tomatoes and seasoning; baked bread and still more coffee. With luck, fresh peach or berry pie.

Baker's bread is called "gun wadding" at the roundup and is not popular. The cook who can whip up a batch of biscuits, slow baked in a Dutch oven over mesquite coals, is the man of the hour. Contrary to western lore, the pancake is seldom made. In the words of one cook, "they're too damn messy."

The chuckwagon, pickup truck or cook tent is considered private property of the cook, and wranglers stick to their own ground. It's a serious breach of etiquette to fail to place dirty utensils in the "wreck pan," the range name for dishpan. And only an utter fool would ever complain about the food.

Cooks go under various titles. The printables are coozie, cookie, dough wrangler, biscuit shooter, belly cheater, Sally, the old woman, grease puncher and pot slinger. Canned goods are called "air tights"; sugar or molasses are both called "lick." Knives and forks are called "artillery."

At the end of the roundup the cooks generally drift back to their cafe and side-order cooking jobs in nearby towns. Few ranches these days employ large enough crews all year long to keep a steady cook. But while most of the cooks cuss and snort the whole roundup week, they enjoy the busman's holiday.

Insurance Valueless If Fire Friendly

NEW YORK—Homeowner, beware the "friendly fire." It may bite the hand that kindles it.

This is the warning of the Insurance Information Institute which points out there are some blazes which can do damage not covered by ordinary fire insurance.

A "friendly fire," in the language of the insurance business, is a fire kindled for a "friendly" purpose which stays within its intended confines — in the fireplace or backyard barbecue pit, the furnace or the trash incinerator. As long as such a blaze stays where it belongs, it isn't considered a fire for insurance purposes.

Obviously, the wood you burn in your fireplace can't be covered by insurance. And anything else that gets tossed or dropped in along with the logs isn't covered by fire insurance either.

Another friendly fire loss which might not be covered, the Institute says, is the boiler that runs out of water, becomes overheated from the fire in the furnace and is damaged, without the fire getting outside the furnace.

Smoke damage from friendly furnace fires isn't covered by fire insurance policies either, but the Institute says most such damage is covered by the extended coverage usually written with fire policies.

Churches Having Problems With Housing Projects for Elderly

WASHINGTON — The National Council of the Episcopal Church is trying to decide whether to go deeper into the business of advising its local parishes about retirement housing.

Under consideration is a plan for offering not only advice but also send money to help local churches get started.

The National Council already has a Ministry to the Aging Department, but some church leaders are wondering if this office shouldn't do a lot more in the field of housing for the elderly than it's done to date. Recently two parishhes were taken by the hand by their builders and got themselves obligated well beyond their resources.

Some members of the Council think this could have been avoided if the two local churches had called on the national office for expert help before they began.

This concern is coming to be shared more and more by other national church groups. At an Interfaith Conference on Housing for Senior Citizens here in April, many clerical and lay leaders indicated they're going to pay much closer attention to what their local churches are up to.

They made plans to exchange information among the national offices of the different faiths, and they asked federal housing officials to let them know whenever a local church applies for help in building retirement housing.

The federal government has two programs of particular interest to churches—direct loans and mortgage insurance.

Under the direct-loan program, the government makes low-interest, long-term loans to groups that want to build rental housing for the elderly. This housing is for people in the "income squeeze' bracket, that is, those who are making too much to qualify for public housing but too little to get into the regular market.

At the start of this year, funds had been reserved for more than 14,000 units in 129 different projects costing almost $16 million. About half these projects were being sponsored by churches.

Under the second federal program — mortgage insurance for rental housing — the government guarantee permits groups to borrow money at 5¾ per cent, which is usually less than they'd have to pay without this backing. The mortgages run for as long as 40 years.

At the beginning of 1964, the government was committed to insure mortgages on 242 housing projects for the elderly containing over 35,000 units at a cost of $410 million. A little more than half of these were church-sponsored.

Officials say these impressive figures should not obscure the fact that a lot of churches are building retirement housing without any financial help from the government.

But whether their financing is public or private, all churches face the same problems when they decide to build.

Said one federal official: "The local groups have a lot of enthusiasm but also a lack of sophistication." The other major problem is where they can get the money they need to start. Even before ground is broken there's plenuty of work to be done.

The Episcopal Church is wrestling with these problems and other national church groups show signs of doing the same.

Workshop In Language Is Offered

Dr. Helen Naughton, associate professor of French at College of Notre Dame-Belmont, is offering a workshop in foreign language for elementary teachers of French during the College Summer Session, July 6-17, 9:30 to 12:10 daily for two units.

Skilled in FLES techniques and experienced in working with teachers, Dr. Naughton will stress the philosophy, techniques, and instructional materials of the FLES program. The workshop aims to improve the pronunciation of participants and to review basic vocabulary and grammar, using for such review techniques which teachers can utilize in their own classrooms. Stress will be placed on contemporary concepts of language teaching, the development of the FLES movement, and correct FLES practice. Participants will have an opportunity to examine and evaluate the best in curriculum materials, texts, readers, workbooks, and syllabi now published, as well as such teaching aids as songs, dramatizations, and dialogues. Members of the class will develop and share materials in a workshop situation. A demonstration class of third and seventh grade pupils will illustrate teaching techniques on the two levels, and participants will have an opportunity to practice-teach the demonstration class.

Because very few workshops are being offered in this area in French for the elementary school, pre-registration with the summer school director is required.

For information write or phone: Director of Summer Session, College of Notre Dame, Belmont.

Race Talk At College

John Howard Griffin, lecturer on race relations and author of the best seller, "Black Like Me," will talk on this current controversial subject at the College of Notre Dame-Belmont Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, June 21. This talk is co-sponsored by the College of Notre Dame-Belmont and the Lay Apostolate Center, Mt. Carmel Church, Redwood City.

Mr. Griffin was nationally publicized for his extensive travels throughout the South, posing as a Negro. His white skin had been dyed dark through medical injections, and, being accepted as a Negro, he spent many months in their midst.

The public is cordially invited. Tickets at $1 may be obtained by calling Sister Emelia at College of Notre Dame-Belmont.

'Serious' Advt. Wasn't at All

WASHINGTON — Apparently even the realtors don't take their classified ads too seriously.

A discussion of over-abbreviation in classified advertising in a recent publication of the National Association of Real Estate Boards included this tongue-in-cheek example:

ATTR. CON. BUNG., 2 b.r., lr., frm.dn.r.,2-cr gar. att., fl.-bsmt., f.p. $19,000. Lo.dn., FHA Mort.

And this translation:

Atrocious construction bungle, 2 broken rainspouts, leaky roof, farmyard drains into rear, 2 carloads garbage in attic, flooded basement, fantastic profit at $19,000. Low down neighborhood, faces Harold's Mortuary.

Put on Shingles Right Over Old

NEW YORK — If your house needs reroofing this year, ask your contractor about the possibility of applying new asphalt shingles directly over the old, suggest roofing specialists at Allied Chemical's Barret Division. This technique, they said, may cost less and provide greater insulation and protection.

Homes Bigger Than in 1955

NEW YORK — Today's average home contains 1,500 square feet, about 30 per cent more space than in the new home of 1955.

Veal Rosemary For Breakfast

For breakfast buffs and lunch lingerers comes this brunch idea from Revere, which suggests fast, even cooking in copper bottom utensils; elegant serving in stainless steel casseroles.

VEAL ROSEMARY

3 tablespoons cooking oil
2½ pounds veal, cubed
1 clove garlic, minced
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoons ground rosemary
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 carrots
1 stalk celery
1 onion, stuck with 3 cloves
1 can (13¾ ozs.) chicken broth
1 cup white wine or water
2 tablespoons flour
Large cooked mushroom
Parsley and Potato Balls

In a 2-quart Revere Ware saucepan heat oil and in it brown meat quickly on all sides. Add garlic, salt, pepper, rosemary, chopped parsley, carrots, celery, onion, chicken broth and wine or water. Bring liquid to a boil, cover and simmer for 1¼ hours. Discard onion, carrots and celery and thicken gravy slightly by stirring in the flour mixed to a smooth paste with the butter. Garnish with mushroom and parsley and surround by cooked potato balls.

Black Bottom Pie Worth Effort

Black Bottom Pie is something of a dessert classic. Like many elegant dishes in this delicious category, it requires considerable time and effort to prepare. But no one who has ever had the good furtune to taste it would deny that the pie represents time well spent.

One work-saving feature of this version of Black Bottom Pie is its golden corn flake crumb crust. Easier than conventional pastry, it combines packaged corn flake crumbs with butter and sugar.

The filling is in three layers of complimentary flavors. A chocolate custard on the bottom gives the pie its name.

Over it is a creamy, rum-seasoned mixture, and the fluffy topping is whipped cream garnished with shaved chocolate.

Use a vegetable parer to skim the chocolate curls from a square of room - temperature baking chocolate.

Serve tiny cups of after-dinner coffee with this delectable special occasion dessert.

BLACK BOTTOM PIE

4 cups corn flakes or
1 cup corn flake crumbs
1-3 cup soft or melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup sugar
4 teaspoons cornstarch
3 eggs, separated
2 cups milk, scalded
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
½ teaspoon vanilla flavoring
½ teaspoon rum flavoring
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
½ square (½ oz.) unsweetened chocholate, shaved

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs, butter and sugar; mix well. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of 9-inch pie pan. Chill.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine ½ cup sugar with cornstarch. Beat egg yolks until light; stir in scalded milk slowly. Gradually stir in sugar mixture. Cook over hot water, stirring occasionally, about 20 minutes until custard coats a metal spoon heavily. Take out 1½ cups of custard; keep remainder hot. Melt chocolate over hot but not boiling water; add to the 1½ cups custard, beating until well-blended and cool. Stir in vanilla. Pour into chilled pie shell. To remaining hot custard, and softened gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Cool until mixture is ready to set. Stir in rum flavoring. Beat egg whites with salt until foamy. Add cream of tartar and beat until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in remaining ¼ cup sugar. Fold into custard mixture. Spread gently over chocolate filling. Chill until set.

Whip cream; fold in confectioners' sugar. Spread over pie; sprinkle with shaved chocolate. Serve at once. Yield: 1 9-inch pie.

Note: If a more crisp crust is desired, bake corn flake crumbs shell in slow oven (300 degrees) for 5 minutes before chilling.

CUSTOM-STYLED

When the meat retailer runs a special on large cuts, take advantage of the economy. He will be glad to cut the meat, custom-styled in sizes for your family.

If you like meats for broiling buy a full beef loin and have the following steaks cut in thicknesses to suit your family: sirloin steaks, porterhouse steaks, small T-bone and club steaks.

Should you be pressed or freezer space, have the beef loin cut into boneless steaks as follows: boneless sirloin steaks, filet mignon (tenderloin), top loin steaks (New York strip steaks or Kansas City steaks).

Either type of cutting will also give you packages of ground beef to be used for grilling out-of-doors as well as in the kitchen.

Try a Coconut Ribbon Cake

For a very special treat, and a special occasion, serve Coconut Ribbon Cake with delicious Cappuccino coffee—a favorite in Italy, and one that will be a favorite with you! This recipe for Cappuccino is full of flavor, but without caffein...so serve it as late as you wish, and enjoy a second serving.

Cappuccino
(Made with Instant Sanka)
3 or 4 tablespoons Instant Sanka Coffee
2 cups boiling water
¼ cup whipping cream
Cinnamon

Measure coffee into coffee pot or carafe. Add boiling water; stir. Steep a few minutes before serving. Whip cream. Place a spoonful of whipped cream in 5 demitasse cups. Add a dash of cinnamon. Pour hot coffee over cream. Serve with sugar, if desired. Makes 2 cups, enough for 5 servings.

Coconut Ribbon Cake
1 small loaf cake (about 7x3½ inch)
1 cup (½ pt.) chocolate ice cream, softened
1 cup (½ pt.) coffee ice cream, softened
¾ cup heavy cream
¾ cup flaked coconut

Slice cake horizontally into 3 slices. Spread one slice with chocolate ice cream. Top with second slice of cake. Spread this with coffee ice cream. Top with remaining slice of cake. Wrap filled cake in aluminum foil. Freeze at least 3 to 4 hours.

Before serving, whip cream and sweeten to taste; use to frost top and sides of cake. Lightly press coconut into whipped cream. Serve with additional whipped cream, if desired. Makes about 6 servings.

Frozen Taffy Pie A Summer Treat

The freezer is a modern-day treasure chest. In its chilly interior reposes a wide variety of delicious goodies. One of the most wonderful treats your freezer or freezing compartment of the refrigerator can hold is frozen taffy pie. Its crust is made of crisp coconut. Its filling has a fine taffy flavor derived from a mellow molasses.

Just that combination of ingredients would make the pie a distinguished dessert, but you can take it one step further. The pie is frozen and may be consumed unthawed. The filling provides the coolness and texture of ice cream. On a hot summer day, a Frozen Taffy Pie is tops as dessert or snack.

To add to its other virtues, this taffy pie is simple to prepare. The crust requires combining only crisp flaked coconut and melted butter. There's no baking. As for the filling, you just dissolve unflavored gelatin in milk, stir in more milk and the unsulphured molasses, and chill. Fold in whipped cream, turn into shell, and freeze.

The canny cook will want to make two or three at a time to store in the freezer. When unexpected guests drop in, or when the man of the family would like a special snack—there you have it.

The same unsulphured molasses which provides the frozen pie with such splendid flavor goes into a similar one, this time with lemon flavor. The Lemon Taffy Chiffon Pie has not the same ice-cream consistency, this one features a chiffon filling as light as air, and this pie, too, goes into a coconut shell. Both taste wonderful with a garnish of whipped cream, but each tastes excellent on its own merits without the garnish. All summer long, taffy-flavored pies add a cool agreeable note to the season.

FROZEN TAFFY PIE
¼ cup butter, melted
2 cups flaked coconut
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1½ cups milk, divided
1-3 cup unsulphured molasses
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine melted butter and coconut. Press on bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Chill until firm. Sprinkle gelatin on 1 cup of the milk in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat; stir in remaining ½ cup milk and unsulphured molasses. Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Fold in whipped cream; turn into prepared pie shell. Freeze. When frozen, cover with freezer wrap. Yield: One 9-inch pie.

LEMON TAFFY CHIFFON PIE
¼ cup butter, melted
2 cups flaked coconut
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup sugar, divided
⅛ teaspoon salt
2-3 cup water
1-3 cup lemon juice
¼ cup unsulphured molasses
4 eggs, separated
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
1 cup heavy cream, whipped, divided
1 baked pustry shell, 9 inches in diameter
Nutmeg

Combine melted butter and coconut. Press on bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Chill until firm. Mix together: gelatin, ¼ cup of the sugar, and the salt, in saucepan. Beat together: water, lemon juice, molasses, and egg yolks; add to the gelatin mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved, about 4 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in lemon rind. Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining ¼ cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in gelatin mixture. Fold in half the whipped cream. Turn into prepared pastry shell; chill until firm. Garnish with remaining whipped cream, and sprinkle with nutmeg. Yield: One 9-inch pie.

The Redwood City Peacock Restaurant serves lunches Tuesday through Thursday, 11:30 to 2 p.m.; dinner daily, 4:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

G. Mardikian

"A TOAST TO OUR FUTURE CUSTOMERS"—This is the wish of Dale Lund, Liebert Construction; Oscar Liebert, Liebert Construction; Lyle Blaine, co-owner; Ray Bartels, co-owner; Ray Goudy, property owner, and Bob McGlashan, Davidson Meat Company, who combined to give San Mateo the new A & W Root Beer and Sandwich outlet at Twenty-seventh and El Camino.

Pancho's Fixtures Spain Imports

The wrought iron light fixtures at Pancho's, home of the Peninsula's outstanding Mexican food, are imports from Spain and lend much to the restaurant's atmosphere. Luncheon and dinner selections are on steam table display and are prepared to order in only minutes.

Hotel St. Francis Dinner Suggestions

The Cafe Medallion, show place restaurant in the San Francisco St. Francis Hotel, presents a very selective dinner served in an atmosphere of quality. My suggestion: Breast of chicken Medallion under glass, sauce supreme, mushrooms, and rice with sauted grapes. Or, for a seafood treat, baked baby lobster tails, drawn butter and mushroom rice.

"Surf House Ron" would like to remind you that there is plenty of parking space at his restaurant and cocktail lounge. You're welcome, sir.

Plan to invade the Pacifica area, this Sunday, and will contact my good friend Nick Gust to check out his future plans for restaurant development. This item will alert you, Nick. So please have all the needed information at hand.

With more hamburger spots on the Peninsula than there are parking spaces, let me be the first to tell you that Keith's Chicken and Steak House in Burlingame has added this all American sandwich to his menu . . .

Frank Dennison, general manager of the lavish Sheraton-Villa Motor Inn, has his new French Room so "Frenchy" that even the janitor wears a beret when doing his dining room chores.

Exposition Fish Grotto boss, Sil Oliva, is already making plans for World Series tickets and bus accommodations for his customers. This gent is seldom wrong. So if his "crystal ball" says the Giants will win, I won't bet against it.

"Two Old Bags At Finocchio's

Two of Finocchio's most stellar acts of last season are back at the famous San Francisco club. They are Francis & Blair as "The Two Old Bags from Oakland," and Candido, the sensational interpreter of exotic Middle East dances. Candido has just returned from a successful three-month tour of Europe with a brand-new dance act in which he even introduces a novel version of the Mexican hat dance.

Raquel Flores, shapely Mexican Miss in the Sinaloa's all-Latin "Holiday In Mexico" revue, is at her best performing authentic Mexican folk dances.

Now is the time to enjoy an order of Uncle John's fresh strawberry pancakes — rolled up and topped with whipped cream. Side order of smoked ham sets this off to taste perfection.

The way Vince Licata commutes between Nevada and San Mateo makes me wonder if he's contemplating a branch Tahoe seafood house. Just wondering!

Sunday evening is "family night" at Bertolucci's. This is the gathering eve for the children and in-laws. A homey atmosphere that makes you feel a part of the Bertolucci family.

Peninsula Schedule To Barney's

A last-Friday meeting with Barney O'Malia at his Lake Tahoe (South Shore) Barney's Casino brought a pleasant surprise, indeed. Come Thursday, June 25, Barney plans to start a Greyhound "Barney's Tahoe Express" weekly schedule to Lake Tahoe. It will originate in Burlingame at 9 a.m. and stop in San Mateo, Belmont, Redwood City, Palo Alto. Thence, to San Jose and on to the Nevada playland. More data and a confirmation on this next week.

Have missed seeing my pal Ed "Hyatt House" Sullivan, lately. It's easy to understand why, though. Ed has been so busy with restaurant operations and the soon-to-be Hyatt House Theater project that even a summons server would be out run.

Jack Lalanne 'Muscles In'

Plenty of "form" at the Mountain View Caravan Inn, last week, when Jack LaLanne "flexed his muscles" from the stage, and Donna Theodore performed her exotic floor show dances. LaLanne, a dinner guest here, took time out to sing a song or two to the delight of a packed house.

Enrico Romano, "Mr. Pizza" of Pacifica, knows a man who spent $5,000 to send his son through college and all he got was a quarterback.

You'll enjoy one of the finest Italian dinners you've ever ha at Bruno Scatena's Joe's of Westlake restaurant. A most attractive place to take the family.

Nick Finocchio has a special pastry cook who prepares those delicious weekend petit fours for dessert treats that you so crave at the New Tivoli. Orders to go as well as enjoyed in the restaurant.

YOUR EVERY GARDEN NEED AT JOE'S NURSERY

JOE'S NURSERY, situated in the beautiful Colma hills just south of Daly City, is owned and operated by well known nurseryman Joe Cherolis and his wife, Raye. Joe's Nursery, serving the gardening community for the past 17 years, opened in its present location at 1777 Hillside boulevard in 1962. The nursery occupies nearly 1½ acres of property, of which one-half acre is set aside for convenient free parking. The remaining grounds are devoted to the nursery service, both wholesale and retail, and the retail garden store, which is headquarters for the fine Ortho lawn and garden products, as well as exclusive dealership for Wilkinson garden tools. The Cherolis offer courteous service along with helpful gardening information, two factors that have contributed strongly to the success of Joe's Nursery.
